The Remains Were Buried by William Ungershick-All the Latest Developments in the Now Famous Case.

After a diligent search the body of the infant of Mrs. Amanda Lohr, was discovered this morning by Marshal Gentry, Officer Jacobs, and a News-Democrat reporter, buried in a swamp about a mile and a half north of town along the Valley sealings track. railway track.

The above named parties started out a The above named parties started out at an early hour this morning intent upon finding the body. They had a slight clue and looked carefully along the track. When opposite the pond, which is a mic and a haif from town a suspicious tooking place was discovered. Fresh earth had been thrown up and the spot had all the appearance of a miniature grave. The officers went to work and after throwing off about four inches of loose earth came upon a small box. It was an ordinary pasts board shop box. This was came upon a small box. It was an ordinary paste board shop box. This was opened and on the inside was found the badly decomposed remains of the infant. The box was dug up and a character known as "Frenchy" secured to carry the remains to the coroner. The funeral started for the city with "Frenchy" as waters her. Following close behind undertaker. Following close behind Marshai Gentry and Officer Jacobs as chief mourners. The reporter brought up in the rear. After proceeding in this magner for some distance the scribe was sent spead to notify Coroner Openhimer that the procession was headed for h

"For heaven's sake do not bring that borrid thing here," said the coroner. "I will be down at once," concordingly the fucoroner. "I will be down at once," con-tinue I that official. Accordingly the fu-neral procession halted and awaited the coroner's arrival. As soon as he reached the come "Frenchy" was ordered to take the back streets and head for McCrea's undertaking establishment. The remains were afterwards viewed by the coroner. Shortly after I o'clock this afternoon Coroner John H. Openhimer, Marshai Gentry, Dr. A. Leininger and reporters of the News Designar and Repository left for Navarre, where the testimony of Mrs. Amanda Lohr will be taken. It is probable she will be arrested on a charge of murder and brought back to Canton

STARTLING DEVELOPMENTS.

It is 'earged'on excellent authority this after to in that the case is undoubledly was seen on the scalp as if made b sharp : strament and it cried noted des I. Sometime after a washern Vir. Shenck wrapped it up carefully and placed it in bed with its mother, tellion her to give it plenty of air. Later she discovered it under the cover and taking it out where it could get air, told the mother to be careful. The next time she saw the child it was dead. The face was black and the tonge was out of its mouth. The child looked as if it had been smothered to death or choked. This seems very queer and makes the case against the mother look even darker. nother look even darker.

It is also learned that the child died a week ago Sunday and was not buried antil the following Monday evening. On that evening William Ungershick left the house between 8 and 9 o'clock in company with Mr. Shenck. They went together out the Valley track and when Shenck ined what was up he returned Ungershick proceeded alone and buried the nony. Up to the present writing nothing has been learned as to Ungershick's whereabouts. Sensational developments are to be expected.

THE HEAD CRUSMED.

This afternoon shortly after dinner the body of the child was subjected to a care-ful examination by Coroner Openhimer and Br. Leininger. The head and face were found to be bruised and crushed in a terrible manner, the bones being mashed . It had the ap; earance of having been done after birth, and it will not be surpris ing in the light of events thus far investi gated if a genuine case of murder is made out in the matter. The child was very nearly a full time one, having gone at least eight months, and every indication points to the theory of a murder having been committed. The bex in which the fittle one was found was solid and intact and the head of the child could not pos-sibly have been mashed in the terrible manner that it was, after being buried.
Mrs. Lohr will, in all probability be arrested at once and brought before the court to answer to the charge of having caused the death of her child.

LATE DEVELOPMENTS ON SATURDAY, Mrs. Amanda Lohr was arrested late Saturday afternoon, at the residence of her father Jesse Bordner near Navarre, or the charge of attempting to procure an abortion. She was brought to Canton and given into the charge of Sheriff Krider. Later in the evening Marshal Gentry arrested Dr. E. L Watker of 109 Gentry arrested Dr. E. L. Walker of 109

Coroner Openhimer on Saturday took Mrs. Loor's testimony which in substance was as follows: I gave birth to the child and it lived three hours. My home has been in Eighth street, Cauton, and I am married. My husband is George Lohr. We lived together for ten years and sepa-rated three years ago. He now resides about five miles north of here. Mrs. Shanks was first called in to attend me Shanks was first called in to attend me when I was taken sick. I sent for Dr. A. B. Waiker and he came to the house to see me. He mads an examination and said the child would not be born just then. This was Sunday afternoon, July 24. He left saying he would return soon. He came back in about half an hour, again leaving and returning half an hour later. When he came back the last time the shild had been born. I operated upon when he came back the has the his child had been born. I operated upon myself, and hebody had anything to do with it. My intention was to peform a criminal operation. The child looked healthy when it was born and cried a great deal. Two ladies, Mrs. Shanks and a midow, were present when the baby was a widow, were present when the baby was born. Some time before, the widow, whose name I don't know, asked me if I was not in trouble, and upon my telling her that I was, she offered to help me out. She gave me an instru-ment which she said she used herself. I was afraid to use it, and took it to Dr. E. L. Walker, who said it was uo good, and that he had a better one. The doctor then that he had a better one. The doctor then operated on me, telling me that he would do what he could to help me out of the trouble. I was in pain from that time until the child was born, which was about three weeks later. The doctor said he feared I was too far gone, but he would do the best he could. He said his charges would be very reasonable. I made his wife a dress and took it down to her. No one and anything about pay, and I supposed br. E. L. Walker was examined Saturdsy Dr. E. L. Walker was examined Saturday evening by Coroner Openhimer and testified in substance as follows: I live at 109 East Fourth street. I have practiced medicine for thirty years, and have been in Canton for twenty years, I know Mrs. Amanda Lohr. She first came to my house about three months ago. She has been there several times since, but on the last two visits I did not see her. She made a dress for my wife. The last time I saw her was three or four weeks ago. It was three months ago when she wanted me to help her out. I gave her some simple medicine and examined her with a sound. I never prescribed anything for simple medicine and examined her with a sound. I never prescribed anything for her except some simple medicine. I never gave her any oil of tansy and never operated upon her. She wanted me to operate upon her but I refused. The peter degled the statements made by Mrs. Lohr.

THE MOTHER'S TESTIMONY.

The first witness examined was Mrs. Sarah Bordner, mother of Mrs. Amanda Lotr. She testified in substance as fol-lows: I reside near Navarre. Mrs. Lohr will be thirty four years of age next sep-tember. She was married thirteen years ago, living with her busband for ten years. About four weeks ago I was convinced that my daughter was in a delicate condition. She came down to see us and the next Saturday, July 16, I came to Canton to see her. She admitted to me at this time that she was in an interesting condi-tion, and had been taking medicine. I wanted her to come home, telling her no dector, unless it was one like Maxwell, would do acything for her. She agreed to come home and live with her husband, saying she would write to him. On the saying she would write to him. On the following Thesday I came up again with the team to take her home. She would not go with me, saying she had not collected in her money for two weeks. She promised to come home soon. She claimed to me that the child belonged to her husters. band. Last "Tuesday night she came home but would say very little to me. She gave me to understand the child was buried near a swamp. She said she would tell all at the proper time. Through Mrs. John Allen telling an aunt that Dr. E. L. Walker had operated on Amanda, I first learned the true facts. Amanda also showed Mr. Allen the intrument which the grass widow gave to er. Last fall Amanda and her busband made up and lived together a short time when she wrote to him that she didnot

MRS HROCKETT'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Flora Brockett was the secon witness examined and testified as follows: I live at 140 Prospect avenue and am-slightly acquainted with Mrs. Amanda saw her the last day of April at Mr. Allen's house. I saw her a month or so later and twice since then at her house. She never spoke of her condi-tion. I saw her the Saurday night betion. I saw her the Saturday night be-fore her child was born and she admitted to me that she had performed an opera-tion upon herself. She also told me that one physician gave her medicine and that one physicisn gave her medicine and that she had been to several others, but none of them would do her any good. She said she had sooner die than have a child. I saw her again Sunday evening and was there when the child was born. William Ungershick and Mrs. Shanks were also present. The child's head was badly torn and it was black in the face when it was horn. It was alive and seemed to grad-ually grow stronger, as it cried louder. When the doctor came he told us to take mood care of it, saying it could not live but might last until morning. The jaw was not broken. I went home about ten o'clock and came again Monday evening. I did not see the child then and asked how long it lived, Mrs. Lohr said the last she heard of it was about 1 o'clock. She didn't know if it died then or just stopped making a noise. She said she wanted Will to look at it, but he would not do it, so no one saw it, until Mrs. Shanks came down in the morning. Before Dr. A. B. Walker left, at his request, Mrs. Lohr said o one was to blame except berself and out she did the work with a lead pencil. He explained that he made the request so no reflection could be cast on him. He said that on account of the lady, he hoped one would make any mention of the I never and any conversation with Mrs. Lohr about abortions, and never gave her an instrument as I have one in my possession.

TWO NEW SCHOOL HOUSES

The Canton Township Board of Education is meeting this afternoon and con-sidering bids for the erection of two new school houses. One new one will be erected is the Waco district where the Bronner school now stands. This struct-ure will be two stories high and have two rooms. The second building will be put up just east of the Waco district in the fairview district. There are several bidders on both bui dings.

The Epidemic of Flux.

Last summer the flux raged here to a fearful extent. About five miles north of here at the Whiteside grave yard there were five victims of this dreadful disease buried in one day. The doctors could do nothing with the disease. When my family were taken, I went to Walter Brothers, of Waltersburg, and told them the situation. They said, give Chamber-lain'r Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Rem-edy: that they had sant were five victims of this dreadful discuse edy; that they had sent out several hundred bottles into the infected district and "every day we hear how the medicine is curing them. So far we have not heard of its falling in one instance." I went to giving it and could soon see the good effects and a cure was the result. Anyone in doubt about these facts may write to me,—L. C. On Thursday of this week twenty men were discharged without notice, from the shops of R-publican Congressional candidate, T. R. Morgan, Sr., of Atliance.

The mere fact of a score of men being iaid off from work night not necessarily in itself have much weight were is not fo in itself have much weight were that for some other circumstances in the case, which appear to throw some light on the matter and have a tendency to show just what the attitude of the would be M. C. is toward union labor. And yet without these circumstances it might be well for Mr. Morgan to arise and explain why it is that with the country's great prosperity as related by his proceptor, Governor McKinley, and with so much of that glorious provetion to the laborer, the laborer is yet turned out of doors to seek work elsewhere turned out of doors to seek work elsewhere

But the reason for the discharge of these vorkman becomes v ry close when the acts in the case are known. One of the lischarged workmen sums up the situa-tion in the following statement: "On the discharged working a stitus up the situation in the following statement: "On the 30th of July the Iron Mounders Union of North America organized a branch union in the Morgan Engineering Company Works at Aliance and there was nothing said about it until Thursday, when, without notice, he (Mr. Morgan, Sr.,) said that he would not need us any longer. He said thaths was running his works and did not want layor organizetten to run it."
The above statement made by one of

The above statement made by one of the men who was "laid off" show very clearly the attitude of Candiday Morgan toward the organized labor forces of the country. At the same time it also shows that shrewdness that is characteristic of the monopolists in dealing with their men and luring them on to their rum. Mark now! air. Morgan says nothing when the organization of laborers is formed. No indeed, that would show at once that he is entirely hostile to organized labor. But he has a more subtle and effective way of ridding his stops of the organization. The report is started from the office that work is started and that some men will have to be laid off and now the "laying off" commences and off come the heads of nearly every man who has joined the labor union.

This is an eid dodge and has worked like a charm in a great many instances has with the coord Morray has made in byt with the record Morant has made in the past for opposing union labor, it will hardly pass muster at this stage of the proceedings. It strikes upon the average mind as a very strange thing that work should suddenly become so slack in a grand protected industry immediately following the organization of the laborers into a union and that in a score of discharged man, with but one o two exceptions, all are members of the new labor union.

The record is complete. Nothing is needed to demonstrate beyond the shadow of a doubt to any man who has a thimbleful of brains that Thomas R. Morgan, Sr., is a foe of union labor. Another fact that tends to shed some light on the matter in that a great part of Mr. Morgan's wor comes through the influence of Andrew Carnegie, the great Homesteau mill monopolist, and in view of the attitude of Mr. Carnegie toward union labor and of the bond of guion between Mr. Morgan and Mr. Carnegie it is evident at once to any logical mind why the former has no use for a union laborer. The workingmen in this district are beginning to get their eyes open to the facts regarding Morgan's sittude toward them and they will be heard from in November.

THE GROOM IN JAIL

A Paris Youth Criebrating His Wedding Day Behing the Bars.

Fred, Leasure and Minnie Oyster of Paris were married this morning but at the present writing they have not yet started on their wedding tour, owing to the fact that the groom is maked up in the county jail. Some two weeks ago the young man was taken before Justice Bow-man of Robertsville on a charge of being unduly intimate with the fair hairest Paris unduly intimate with the fair harrest Paris demsel. He did not at that turn feel inclined to become a Benedict, and the trial resulted in his being sent to jail. He finally concluded that wedlock would be better than imprisonment, and this morning the girl and the young man's father but in an appearance at the sheriff's office and had the turnkey bring up the youth. A license was procured in the Probate office and Justice Reigner solemurged the proceedwas produced in the Probate office and Justice Reigner solemoized the proceedings in due legal form and bound the couple together for life—or until one or the other runs away. So far all went well, but it now transpired that a but of costs was treasured up against the groom in the lighter court and the young man. in the justice court and the young man could not be released until this was paid.
